

Dr. Monica Vandivort
A Commitment to the Frail Elderly

Among those of us who can remember "way back when," remarks like the following are not uncommon: "Health care has become just another big business." And, "No one seems to care much these days" Well, meet the blessed exception! Her name is Dr. Monica Vandivort. Monica's goal is to help the frail elderly realize that, while they may not be able to do everything, they can make the absolute most of the physical abilities they do possess. She accomplishes this with great professionalism combined with encouragement and that grand old Christian commodity called loving care. "The odd thing is," says Monica, "I studied to be a pediatrician. But as I spent more and more time with my grandparents, I felt a great love growing for the elderly. Then God opened a lot of doors in my life." Through these doors are now coming increasing numbers of the frail elderly, and Dr. Monica's tireless love for them is being returned a hundred fold.
